

About myself

I graduated from xxx University of Technology with a bachelor's degree in Process Equipment and Control Engineering in June. Following that, I pursued my master's degree in Mechanical Manufacture and Automation at the same university and graduated in June. After my graduation, I joined an automotive OEM as a brake system development engineer for one year and then joined an automotive design company in the same position for three years.